FEEDING LITTLE CHILDREN & TELLING THEM OF JESUS

Little children taught about Jesus!

24 people going to be members of new church!

130 little children receive a healthy meal!

Mercy arm of the Peruvian Lutheran Church provides children’s ministry for at-risk youth in 3 locations and serves as a launching place for church plants.

Having been begun by previous missionaries to address the economic, educational and especially spiritual needs of the most needy in Lima, Castillo Fuerte is dedicated to aiding the communities around our mission sites in Word and deed while preaching the Good News of Salvation that Christ has so freely given us.

One area where we work is a heavily-trafficked marketplace, known to be particularly dangerous, but is a prime location for outreach and mercy projects. The second is on the side of a mountain where some of the neediest of Lima live. To the south of the city is another project where we have partnered with another non-profit that helps teach at-risk mothers how to start their own businesses, support their families and provide for themselves. The opportunities in all three are immense and all afford us the opportunity to be in the daily lives of those around us.

The structure of the day at the missions is primarily built around improving the education of the children, who come from families without the resources to provide them the education and mentorship they need. Each day is organized around chapel services, daily catechesis and Bible study. We also, in select locations, have programs to address hunger, which is a serious issue around our churches, as well as programs for health and disaster relief. We have approximately 200 children enrolled across our three sites, learning not just the things they need vocationally, but even more, they are learning the Scriptures, the catechism and what Our Lord has done for them in Jesus Christ. This then provides us an invaluable connection to the family for further work and evangelism.
