Gambia Mission Update, February 2020

LEFT: During a workshop, the Gambian Lutheran leadership are here eager to know about the Lutheran faith; they can't wait in being equipped to share with the lost.

LEFT: Kids from our Kitty Lutheran Church are sharing Christmas afternoon meal together together.

Gambian Christians, as would be most belief in our traditional collectivism a much richer way as noted.

ABOVE: Here are our preschoolers playing with toys, mostly gifts from sister & brother Lutherans in the US, coming to us in the Gambia (Lutheran) by way of the Orphan Grain Train. Our Gambian Lutheran School 80% of whom are coming from Muslim homes / family might find the love of Jesus.

1. The above will be our first of its kind, to be called Lutheran kiosk to serve the desperate communication in the urban area and would also serve as a place of storytelling with the pure Lutheran Gospel for salvation, as a means of reaching the Muslim population.
2. West African Lutherans with a strong sense of collective community when relax over food we have time to share God's gracious mercies and thanked Him good and mundane things: life, shelter, family, job etc. Missionary Loum leads the discussion.
3. These kids, the future church, elder, leaders of our young yet in time God willing will grow/ blossom in a predominant Muslim country.

Gambia Mission Update, February 2020

1. At St. Paul Lutheran, Dallas Texas, together as leaders we stand ready to equip the next generation of leaders.

2. We always talk Mission these two are long standing friends whose vision had been and continues.

3 & 4. On another occasion missionary Loum conducted and share what it takes and mean in serving in my home- country as a mission.

5. Recently, I was awarded a certificate by the Lutheran Heritage Foundation in honor of my dedicated missionary work.

1. The Loum Family, even when they are relaxing, they strategize mission opportunities.

2. Here is our granddaughter (Gigi), who will someday follow the footsteps of grandpa and grandma.
